

When Britvic Soft Drinks decided to replace the windows at their Solihull office, their Facilities Infrastructure Partners Covion appointed Anglian Building Products to undertake the project.

Repairs to the windows at the four-storey Drayton House office had become difficult due to their age, condition and design. In addition the building occupants experienced issues regarding noise, draught and glare from the sun.

The specification for the new PVC-u casement windows included anti-sun glazing, fly screens to kitchen areas and remote controls to inaccessible openers. Commercial grade aluminium doors and screens were used in the entrance areas which incorporated Britvic Soft Drinks' corporate colours.

Barry Westwood Anglian's Regional Operations Manager said, "We worked closely in partnership with Covion to ensure that the Britvic Soft Drinks staff were not affected by our teams or the scaffolding used."
